Day 2

Master of Ceremonies – Introduction and Karakia

Phil Tataurangi
Director
MahiTahi Golf Projects/Phil Tataurangi Golf
Auckland

After starting the game as a 7 yr old at Waitomo Golf Club Phil became a successful junior and amateur representative. This included being a member of the victorious 1992 Eisenhower Trophy side that won the World Amateur Championships in Vancouver, Canada. Phil took the natural step into the pro ranks in 1993 gaining his US PGA Tour card for his rookie season in 1994. His professional playing career spanned 18 seasons with wins on the Australasian, Nationwide and PGA Tours.

Since stepping away in 2013, he's invested himself into a number of different sectors of the game. As a former Tour player, he became an analyst and commentator for PGA Tour Live, Radio and World Feed broadcasts whilst developing other media roles here in New Zealand working on content for NZME, Radio Sport and Sky Sport.

He's a director in a small golf travel business Elite Golf Tours but spends most of his time nowadays in golf course design and his construction business, Mahi Tahi Golf Projects.

Phil's vast array of experiences in and around the game over the last 40 years has seen him become a good friend to numerous different people and sectors of the golf industry.

Welcome – our Presidents.

Chris Davies
President
Golf Managers Assn of NZ

Jason Perkins
Golf Course Superintendents Assn of NZ

Our opening speakers

Dean Murphy
CEO
Golf New Zealand

Dean has been working with Golf New Zealand since 2007, initially spending two years in the role of Commercial Manager. He was appointed as Chief Executive in 2010 after serving as Acting CEO for a year prior to appointment.

Prior to joining Golf New Zealand, He was employed in Sales and Marketing for Lion Nathan as a graduate and spent 10 years in London working in the tourism industry before returning to New Zealand to take up employment with Golf New Zealand.

Dean is a passionate golfer and am most proud of achieving a hole in one on the Par 4 sixth hole at Paraparaumu Beach Golf Club. In 2018, Dean was awarded the C.K. Doig Leadership Award at the Sport and Recreation Sector Awards.

Hana-Rae Siefert
Board Member
Golf New Zealand

Hana-Rae's time both inside and outside of the ropes gives her a unique perspective and understanding of the sporting industry. Hana-Rae is the General Manager of the NZ Sport Collective working with over 50 National Sporting Organisations in the broadcast, commercial and marketing space. Prior to this role, she was a solicitor at Simpson Grierson specialising in sports, sales and marketing and intellectual property law. Hana-Rae has significant event experience in the golfing sector having worked for the International Management Group (IMG) in London working on tournaments such as the Women's British Open and the Dunhill Links in Scotland. She was also responsible for player contract negotiations for the Abu Dhabi Golf Championships and WGC-HSBC Champions in Shanghai, China. Hana-Rae is a prior member of the Golf New Zealand High performance team and is currently completing her Masters of Business.

Lou Sanson
Director General
Department of Conservation

Lou Sanson has been Director-General of the Department of Conservation Te Papa Atawhai since September 2013.

In this time, Lou has focused on our Treaty partner relationships, culminating with the launch of Te Kaupapa a Te Papa Atawhai this year, which places Treaty partnership at the heart of the Department's mahi. He has also made health, safety and wellbeing a priority, and new systems have been embedded throughout the Department.

Under Lou's leadership, DOC has focused strongly on growing conservation by working in partnership with Treaty partners and collaborating with others.

DOC is working on large-scale restoration and predator control projects and undertaking research with Te Arawa, Ngāti Awa and organisations such as Zero Invasive Predators (ZIP), NEXT Foundation, large-scale restoration/predator control initiatives, businesses, other iwi and community organisations on Predator Free 2050, which was launched in 2016. Lou considers that Predator Free 2050 is not ambitious – it is achievable. A highlight for Lou has been the new era of co-management of Te Urewera, under the ground-breaking Te Urewera Act 2014.

In an earlier role, Lou was the Conservator for the former Southland Conservancy where he led the establishment of Rakiura National Park, listing of the New Zealand subantarctic Islands as a World

Heritage Area, oversaw one of the world's largest island eradication projects and helped establish a network of marine reserves in Fiordland and Stewart Island/Rakiura.

Before becoming Director-General, Lou was Chief Executive of Antarctica New Zealand for 11 years, responsible for developing, managing and executing New Zealand's activities in Antarctica and the Southern Ocean.

Lou is a keen outdoor person, enjoying natural history, hiking, ski-touring, diving and photography.

“Diversity and Inclusion in the golf workplace and beyond”

Joint presentation - Sarah Lang and Tupe Solomon-Tanoa'i

Sarah Lang,
Director Government Advisory and Strategic Relationships
Beca

Sarah is a values driven leader, who is passionate about using her skills, networks and knowledge to contribute to structural change for a better New Zealand. A senior executive with over 25 years' experience in central and local government, private sector and not-for-profit organisations, Sarah's legacies are exemplary. The founder of the Women's Infrastructure Network (WIN), and an advocate for the advancement of women in the infrastructure sector, Sarah has led the growth of the WIN network to over 2000 members, across seven chapters nationwide. Sarah was awarded the 2018 Women of Influence Diversity Award and was a nominee for the 2019 New Zealander of the Year Award. Recently she was awarded the 2020 Ausae Association Influencer Award for her contribution to the Association Industry.

Sarah is well connected and highly respected in commercial, public and not-for-profit sectors, and also within Māori communities, having worked for and with a number of iwi authorities. Through her various government and not for profit roles, along with her own consulting company, Lang Consulting Ltd,

Sarah has a proven track record in delivering transformational, long lasting results across a raft of industries. Her ability to leverage from her well established, senior and cross-cultural networks, combined with her diplomatic leadership and engagement skills, results in enduring positive outcomes for all partners and stakeholders.

Tupe Solomon-Tanoa'i
CEO - Michael and Suzanne Borrin Foundation

"I spent years trying to change myself to fit the mould. That was before I realised the power in breaking it."

The Samoan/Fijian Kiwi professional has regularly faced what she describes as unconscious bias in the workplace because of her age, gender, and race. Tupe has had to regularly defend her position, even though she has represented New Zealand on the diplomatic stage, has been seconded to Taiwan and Fiji, and held senior positions in the civil service in Wellington. Tupe is currently the chief philanthropic officer for the Michael and Suzanne Borrin Foundation, which supports legal research, education, and scholarships and is working towards an Aotearoa New Zealand that is just, inclusive, tolerant, and free.

Since she graduated with a BA/LLB(Hons) in 2006, Solomon-Tanoa'i, who was recognised last year as one of University of Auckland's 40 under 40 and won the 2020 NZ Women of Influence Diversity award, has spent her career and personal life pushing for more diversity around board tables. However, she argues that workplaces need to adapt to be more culturally aware. In 2018, she wrote and produced a web series, Misadventures of a Pacific Professional, which follows a young Pasifika woman trying to succeed in a corporate environment. Last year she created a show called "Talanoa with Tupe" spotlighting Pasifika success, which is shown on Oriana TV, Sky 83, and TV channels throughout the Pacific region.

Golf course construction and design

Joint Presentation - Phil Tataurangi and Grant Puddicombe

Phil Tataurangi
Director
MahiTahi Golf Projects/Phil Tataurangi Golf
Auckland

“That golf is a challenging and difficult game to play well. But it's way more fun when as an interesting and thought-provoking pursuit, it's not just an examination of one's skill. “

Since stepping away from my professional playing career in 2013, I finally had time to focus on and pursue my passion of golf course design and construction.

After partnering with Brett Thomson of RBT Design to design the Windross Farm GC which opened just in time for the 2017 LPGA Tour NZ Women's Open, we formed Mahi Tahi Golf Projects to offer our clients the benefits of a design/build solution.

Over the last 3 years we've been working predominantly in Hamilton on the complete redesign of the old Lochiel course for the Riverside Golf Club. The course is due to open later in 2021. Currently, MTGP is working on and consulting to a handful of different clubs/courses around NZ and look forward to an exciting next few years building some for fun golf holes.

As a former PGA Tour Player who has played on a large number of world's best courses i consider it a privilege to now work in the golf course development business back here in Aotearoa. Although playing the game at the highest level exposed me to numerous courses that look good on TV, most of my philosophies about design were seeded as a 10 yr old volunteer green keeper at a 9-hole farm course in the Waikato. Sure, my thoughts may have developed and expanded over the last 40 years, but my beliefs remain very similar to when I was first learning the sport....” That golf is a challenging and difficult game to play well. But it's way more fun when as an interesting and thought-provoking pursuit, not just examination of one's skill. “

Grant Puddicombe
Puddicombe Golf
Managing Director

Grant got his start in the golf business at an early age working alongside his father and brothers. With a background rooted in golf course maintenance, Grant went on to specialize in the design & construction of golf courses all over Canada, USA, Japan, and New Zealand. The family business was primarily set up as a “design/build”, however they have worked directly with numerous golf course architects over the years which has allowed Grant to learn the pros and cons from other perspectives.

He remains hands-on and is involved in all aspects of design and development through construction to ongoing operations. Grant and his family own and operate golf courses and this diverse experience allows him to understand the golf business from all levels. Grant is the Managing Director of both the Canadian and New Zealand companies operating as Puddicombe Golf and is also the Managing Partner. of the RedTail Landing Golf Club in Canada. Grant, his wife and 2 children live in New Zealand where the company has had a presence since 1989.

He then went on to be a very successful Client Manager at Globe Turf Solutions in Victoria building up a substantial territory over a period of 8 years. Before joining Syngenta in 2012. Dan now has a national sales role where he utilises his customer service skills and excellent turf qualifications (Diploma in Horticulture, Certificate in Turf Management, a Diploma in Natural Resource Management and Agsafe Accreditation) to deliver technical advice and solutions for a range of customers and distribution partners throughout Australia & New Zealand at the same time he is responsible for leading and supporting the Syngenta T&L Sales team.

Disease Management:

- SDHI's introduction of a brand-new turf registered fungicide group to the NZ market.
- Achieving best practise with this new molecule and how it fits into disease management programs.
- Understanding the Mode of Action and product placement is crucial for this to achieve curative and preventative control.
